Tadiran Telecom Receives Additional Standards Certificates

Dear Business Partner,

We are very happy to inform you that Tadiran Telecom has recently been approved to receive the following standards certificates:

OHSAS 18001:1999

Occupational Health & Safety Standard
This is a health and safety management system developed to assist in the reduction and prevention of accidents and accident related loss of lives, equipment and time. Certification to OHSAS 18001 demonstrates a company's commitment to a safer working environment and for the protection of employees against injury at work.

ISO 14001:2004

International Standards Organization
This is an environmental management standard which specifies a set of requirements to help all types of organizations protect the environment, prevent pollution and improve their environmental performance. It has become the most important environmental standard in the world and receipt of the certificate indicates conformance to its strict standards.
